

Cook Island Aquatic Reserve

Cook Island Aquatic Reserve (Jungarra Ngarrian) is located approximately 600 metres off shore from Fingal Head in Northern NSW. The is famous for its colony of green sea turtles waiting to swim with visitors all year around!

LOCATION

Offshore from Tweed Heads in Northern New South Wales

DEPTH

3-10 Meters

TEMP

20-28°

FEATURE

DIFFICULTY

Medium

Currents and swell can push you towards the rocks.

GETTING THERE

Cook Island is only 600m off the coast of Fingal Head in New South Wales. But the best way to access it is from a tour leaving from Tweed Heads, 4km away.

LOOK FOR

- Turtles
- Stingrays
- Wobbegongs
- Groupers
- Rock Cod
- Leopard Sharks
- Manta Rays (rare)
- Grey Nurse Sharks

BEST TIME TO SNORKEL

Turtles can be seen at Cook Island year round. The most comfortable time to snorkel here is from November to April when water temperatures are warmer. It was 28 degrees when we dropped into the water in February.