

Kianinny Bay Snorkel

Kianinny Bay is a stunning inlet tucked away in Tathra, near Merimbula on the South Coast of New South Wales. Keep an eye out for the resident stingrays and a range of fish.

LOCATION

Tathra, New South Wales, Australia

DEPTH

1-3 Meters

TEMP

20-23°

FEATURE

DIFFICULTY

Medium

Currents and swell can push you towards the rocks.

GETTING THERE

Tathra is on the south coast of NSW. It is 430km south of Sydney and 25km from Merimbula. Kianinny Bay is just south of the main township.

LOOK FOR

- Smooth Rays
- Sea Urchins
- Smooth Toad Fish
- Leatherjackets
- Goat Fish
- Red Morwong

BEST TIME TO SNORKEL

Summer and early autumn are when the water is warmest. This is a very protected bay good for all wind conditions. The site is not really tide dependant.